Enviro UPDATE

Save the honey bee

Bees are vital for the production of much of what we eat and you can help their survival. A new guide highlights the best plants to grow, and which of them attract birds, butterflies and native bees. Bee Friendly – A Planting Guide for European Honeybees and Australian Native Pollinators is available to download free from www.rirdc.gov.au/pollination. Hard copies can also be ordered online.

PLANET ARK needs you

Planet Ark is calling on you to help run National Tree Day on Sunday 28 July by volunteering to coordinate an event, such as a tree planting site or nature-care education activity. With your help, Planet Ark and sponsor Toyota Australia hope to plant the 20 millionth seedling since the event – now the country's biggest nature care initiative and community tree planting event – started back in 1996. To find out more about coordinating a National Tree Day event, visit treeday.planetark.org, or call the National Tree Day Hotline on 1300 885 000.
